Subject: Labour Leasing :

An effective solution for the self employed or employers needing expert help

Do any of the situations below apply to you?

If yes, we have an effective solution which will be explained in this IFMA lunch.

- I am an employer and need temporary or expert help, without adding to my headcount or payroll;
- I am self-employed but wish I had the social protection given to employees by a company;
- I am a consultant looking for an umbrella and services company;
- I have irregular work where I may have a contract one month but not another.

Gina Empson, BSc Hons, is a Chartered Accountant and a member of the Chambre Suisse des Experts Comptable. Coming from a background of audit (PWC) financial analysis (Merck Serono) and hands on experience of running a commercial operation of 40 people (BioChem) as executive director, Gina created ICS in 1999. ICS is a fully independent accounting/ fiduciary company providing financial & outsourcing operations to international companies.

Béat-Alexander Jenny is an economist with post doctoral experience at MIT and at the United Nations, he is an expert and has advisory experience in emerging countries, having worked in energy planning and exploration, in management and marketing of services, and management education and career coaching.

With this broad base of complementary experience, Gina and Béat see labour leasing as a tailor made flexible and cost effective solution for executives who need deployment of expert resources and for people who wish to work.
